ABOUT THE AD-HOC INDUSTRY NATURAL RESOURCE DAMAGE GROUP

The Ad-Hoc Industry Natural Resource Damage Group (“Group”), founded in 1988, is the largest group of multinational industrial companies worldwide that is at the forefront of corporate strategies, plans and best practices concerning natural resource damage liability and restoration under US laws and the related EU Environmental Liability Directive. Since the EU Environmental Liability Directive (ELD) was enacted in 2004, the Group has served as a resource to industry on the ELD and related issues and has assumed a key role in facilitating communication and practice exchange within the industrial community and between industry, government authorities and other practitioners. Also since 2004, the Group has convened, in Brussels, a series of ELD-related meetings, seminars and workshops, involving industry, government and other experts. The Group has prepared White Papers, Issue Papers, Case Study Analyses, and numerous other documents in an effort to foster the “reasonable, balanced and predictable” implementation of EU Environmental Liability Directive throughout the European Union. Additional information on the Group and its activities related to the ELD can be found at www.nrdonline.com/EUELD. We welcome the participation of new Member Companies and Affiliates.
